

Let's practise using question tags, shall we?

i Question tags are used when you expect the other person to agree with you. Or when we want to turn a statement into a question. If the statement is positive, we use a negative question tag. For example: This is Lisa, isn't it? When the statement is negative, we use a positive question tag. For example: He has never been to Scotland, has he? Question tags are used more when speaking than in writing.

i Use the same verb in the question tag as in the question: He is...isn't he? She does...doesn't she? Be careful: When the question uses "Will..." the question tag is "won't you" For example: He will come with his dog, won't he? If there is a full verb in the sentence, use don't, doesn't, didn't or do, does, did to form the question tag. For example: He knows you, doesn't he?

You are twelve, _____?

- do you
- aren't you
- are you

They play board games, _____?

- don't they
- did they
- do they

Tom doesn't want to come, _____ he?

- does
- do

You have finished your homework, _____ you?

- doesn't
- haven't

I can come with you tomorrow, _____ I?

- can
- can't
- haven't

You do like cake, _____ you?

- didn't
- don't
- do

?

I was right, _____ I?

- isn't
- weren't
- wasn't

?

He will join us tomorrow, _____ he?

- aren't
- won't
- isn't

?

You have a dog, _____ you?

- have
- can't
- haven't

?

The weather is wonderful, _____ it?

- is
- isn't
- hasn't

?

Lisa is taller than you, _____ she?

- isn't
- is
- does

?

You want to have some cake, _____ you?

- doesn't
- don't
- haven't

?

Tom doesn't play tennis, _____ he?

?

You are our new art teacher, _____ you?