

Practise when to use might and might not!

i We use "might/might not" to talk about possible events/actions. For example: He might come home this Christmas (I am not sure if he comes). Or: I might not be able to come today. Might not can be shortened to mightn't.

We also use "might" to ask for permission (whether we are allowed to do something). For example: Might I open the window? (This is a very polite form of asking for permission).

To ask a question with "might/mightn't" you need to put them first in the sentence. For example: Mightn't this be Sandy's house?

?

I really don't know how this works. I _____ ask Dad for help.

- might not
- might

?

He _____ be at home. He usually goes shopping at this time.

- might
- might not

?

Kelly _____ be happy you got a new dog. She really doesn't like dogs.

?

I _____ stay at home tonight, I don't feel very well.

?

Mum _____ come home early today, isn't that great? I look forward to seeing her!

- might
- might not

?

The exercise _____ be too difficult, but try it anyway!

- might not
- might

?

_____ I come in, please?

?

Sadly, he _____ come to the party tonight, he said he is very busy at the moment.

_____ I know why you come home so late?

- Might not
- Might

I _____ be able to travel to France with my friends! My parents nearly agreed.

- might not
- might

_____ I disturb you for a moment, please?

My brother _____ like that I wear his shoes, but I do it anyway!

Lydia _____ struggle with Maths but she is fantastic at languages!

- might
- mightn't

I _____ do a summer drama course, do you want to join me?

- might not
- might